

Official Statement of Milesight New Brand Identity

Milesight is growing as a bigger family after merging with its sister companies Milesight IoT and Yeastar to expand the footprint into the next AIoT industry. After 10 years from the establishment to now, we're delighted to announce that Milesight is embarking on a new journey to AIoT world and upgrading to a more complete and competitive brand. Accordingly, we're introducing Milesight New Logo as part of our ongoing brand evolution. The new Milesight logo comes from a simpler, more identifiable evolution as well as retains the heart of our brand, which is dedicated, professional, and dependable.

The new logo will be officially introduced on January 18, 2021, in the hopes that the newly-upgraded brand identity will continue to propel us forward into the mighty AIoT.

Our statement about new logo is as follows:

- All marketing documents and our web presence will be updated with the new logo and released at the same time as the official launch.
- All the materials, including product packages will be updated to the new one gradually by the end of June.
- All the Milesight products will be manufactured in same high quality standard as always regardless of the new logo or old one and will offer our best service to all our customers.
- Also, the business operations (sales, products and services), the rights and obligations will stay unchanged regardless of the new logo or old one.

We sincerely invite you to join this marvelous AIoT journey with us and please kindly help update our logo if there is a need. Download Milesight New Logo
